WHITEWATER TOURING | RECREATIONAL KAYAKS

TEAM TESTED DESIGN

FROM THE MOUNTAINS TO THE SEA

HULL DESIGN INNOVATIONS

Perfecting the Green Boat hull required optimum rocker curve for speed. But this speed is lost if you must fight stability or can't place the boat where you want it to go. By careful reduction of rocker through the stern from the prototype, it's now more maneuverable with a greater top speed that doesn't squat when blasting down the river.

There's a lot that goes into every Dagger kayak design, not the least of which is living up to our heritage of innovative performance and quality. The truth is, most kayak companies make at least one great kayak, but what sets Dagger apart is offering best-in-class leaders that master every type of moving water from the mountains to the sea.

A truly great kayak design that gets people excited to paddle requires an understanding of the space between a drawing board sketch and a hull meeting the water. Our integrated R&D process ensures the final product meets both the standards of the design team and passes the punishment of Team Dagger. This performance mindset inspires the entire line from whitewater to recreational and touring kayaks.

With a history of record-breaking first descents and a growing tower of competition trophies and medals, Team Tested approval doesn't come easy. We've got some scars to prove it. Most importantly, no design gets the Dagger stamp unless it's worth telling unforgettable stories about for years to come.

WHITEWATER KAYAKS

Whatever your skill level, and whatever the challenge, there's a Dagger Whitewater series that keeps up with your drive. From a renowned design and champion paddling team behind every model, it's no wonder that when records are broken or descents are achieved the first time, you'll usually find a Dagger. These are the top performing boats in freestyle, river running, or creeking, and the top performing boats in all those things you do that don't fit into a nice little category.

We've taken the "free" in freestyle to heart with the most dynamic playboat on the whitewater market today. When others are coming down, you'll still be in the air pulling insane front flips, cartwheels, air screws, or moves that haven't even been named. Relatively low volume and agile, the Agent surfs while other playboats sit on the sidelines.
